THE MOLDERS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 11.—Some of the striking molders of the Ohio Falls Car Works sent to Cincinnati for the strike, President of the Molders' Union, to come to Jeffersonville to adjourn, if possible, the differences between the molders and the Company. In an interview with Fitzpatrick, George, President of the Car Company, declined to make any concession whatever to the molders, but consented to allow them to return to work at the former wages if some assurance was given that another strike should not be hastily inaugurated at a future time. These terms were declined by the molders, who voted to strike again at the wages of $1.25 per day. On the announcement of the result, Sprague notified the molders that the Company would organize a new corps, and none of the molders were to be allowed to work in the foundry. The Car Company this evening closed a contract for all the car-wheels and car-castings they will require till the new foundry corps are organized, so that but little interruption to their business will occur.

HOW THOMAS STUCK.

MRS. HENDRICKS' DECISION AS TO HER Husband's CANDIDACY.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—The distinguished railroad builder, Mr. George F. French, named by Mr. Mural Halifax in his letter to Mr. Bennett as having been the bearer of a message to Gov. Hendricks requesting him to withdraw from the candidacy for nomination at Cincinnati in favor of Senator McDonald, was Mr. E. M. Ingalls, former President of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette Railroad. This gentleman was in Cincinnati before the Convention assembled, and satisfied himself that Mr. Hendricks could not possibly get the coveted nomination, while there seemed to be a good working chance for securing it for Senator McDonald. When the Senator arrived, Mr. Ingalls did not tell him his conclusions. Senator McDonald replied squarely that he would not consent to anything having the appearance of a bargain or arrangement by which he himself was to be the beneficiary. Mr. Ingalls said he was trying to see Mr. Hendricks and lay his views before him. "Not with my dicks all the time," replied the Senator; "I am for Hendricks all the time."

THE WAS SENATOR M'DONALD'S POSITION throughout the Convention. Mr. Ingalls did go to Indianapolis, however, on his own account, where he arrived late at night. He went to Mr. Hendricks' up, and residing at once, called him up, and told him his mind. Mr. Ingalls had a family, and he did not want to be the cause of any trouble. "Under these circumstances, Mr. Ingalls," she said, "I have advised Thos. as to stick." As for Senator McDonald, "she said, "he has no family, and there will be no disposition on his part, but himself in the next day, when the time arrived Mrs. Hendricks was with her husband.

She REMINDED MR. INGALLS

that the Senator had received from the Democrats, first at St. Louis, in being placed second on the ticket, and next by the Republicans in being counted out. She thought nothing the party could do for him, and then replied in substance that the subject was a grave one, and he deserved time to reflect on it and consult Mr. Ingalls. "I am for Tom," she said, "and Mr. Ingalls for the next day. When the time arrived Mrs. Hendricks was with her husband.

HARD TO RECONCILE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—The Post (Democratic) of this city is now a most enthusiastic Hancock paper. In June, just before the Cincinnati Convention, it printed an article with the following headlines fully displayed: "More Anarchy; Scandal; How Minor General Officers Have Violated the Law; Big Pay for Services Never Performed; Further Instances of Indifference to Military Regulations; What Shall Be the Result?" The object was to overthrow the General of the Army, and some of the higher officers, did not observe army regulations. Among these it included Gen. Hancock, and spoke of him as follows:

Major Gen. W. S. Hancock has two illegally-appointed sons in the army, and the son of the Fifth Infantry, has never joined his regiment, and received $8,000 extra pay. G. S. L. Jackson, of the 10th Infantry, and the 1st Cavalry, has not served the required time with his regiment. He has received $7,363 extra.

Columbus, O., crowded with patriotic people and ablaze with enthusiasm.

Sixty Thousand Present at the Grand Army Reunion Yesterday.

President Hayes and Gens. Sherman, Hazen, and Ward Talk to the Multitude.

Preliminary Arrangements for the Gathering of Veterans at Springfield, Ill.

COLUMBUS, O.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—Never before in the history of this city has there been such an influx as during the two days of the soldiers' and sailors' reunion which will close to-morrow. Notwithstanding a heavy rain-storm this afternoon, acres of people listened to the addresses of Presidents Hayes, Gen. Ward, Gen. Sherman, Gen. Beatty, Gen. Hazen, and others, the rain having no perceptible effect upon the enthusiasm of the ex-soldiers. As Gen. Sherman was introduced ten thousand voices shouted "Three cheers for Uncle Billy." As soon as quiet was restored the General spoke substantially as follows:

The speaker here said that this was above all party and political ideas. It was the grand result of the National reunion. It is important to forget all political parties at re-unions, but he ventured so far as to say that we would be ready for the next President of the United States which would be received with continued cheers when the speaker remarked he had entered on forbidden ground. At any rate, he said, they did not fight for the Union. God had exonerated by expressing regrets that the circumstances would not permit him to speak further.

PRESIDENT HAYES.

The President was introduced, and was greeted with loud cheers on introduction and at various points in his speech. His speech was as follows:

The citizens of Ohio who were soldiers in the Union army, and who have assembled here in such large numbers, have manifested a desire for mutual recognition as they exchange greetings and recall old friends at this State reunion. We rejoice that we had the glorious privilege of enlisting and serving in the cause of our country and that the reunion will be not only one of the largest but one of the pleasantest held in this section of the State for years.

The Association is fortunate in having so good a place as the Fair-Grounds in which to pitch its tents. The grounds are about two miles north of the city, easily accessible, and admirably suited for the purpose to which they are just now devoted. The militia tents are in a cluster of trees to the southwest of the grand stand, and the mess hall, and the temporary guard-house to the southeast.

The sideshow abomination, instead of being quartered in the most conspicuous part of the grounds, as was the case at Galesburg last week, has been relegated to the rear, in pursuance of a laudable endeavor to render as little of an eyesore as possible.

Passing around in front of the grand stand, which forms a barrier between Camp Hooker proper and the features already mentioned, the visitor is met with a view of the officers' headquarters and the tented field beyond. The officers' tents are just north of the judges' stand, and couldn't have been pitched in a pleasanter or more commanding spot. A low railing incloses the semicircle in which they have been placed, and divides it from a grassy enclosure on the north. Beyond that, and separated from it by another railing, is the area inside the half-mile track, dotted with its sixty white canvas lodges.

There is an abundance of greenward about the grounds which serves, among other useful purposes, that of forming considerable shade. Altogether Camp Hooker is most pleasantly situated.

Gen. John A. McClernan is the Major-General of the occasion, and T. S. Hart, Adjutant-General. Gen. Hiram Hilliard, Adjutant-General of the State, wears the uniform and performs the duties of Post Commander.

The militia units already referred to, consisting of four companies of the Fifth Regiment, numbering about 125 men, from Springfield, Taylorville, Virden, and Atlanta, under the command of Col. James H. Barkley, have been arranged in a card of four, and are to march in the order of the First, Second, Third, Fourth, and Little Mack, who was outclassed, last.

Bay Billy and Bald Hornet paced head and tail to the half. Bay Billy then broke, and dropped to the ground. Bald Hornet raced in, and took the lead, and was soon in front of the third quarter, but left his feet just as he was growing dangerous.

On the homestretch he acted very mean. Ben Hamilton was then made fast, and the race was over.

The large hosiery mills of the Otis Company at Ware, Mass., were badly damaged by fire Tuesday night. Over 1,000 hands have been thrown out of employment thereby.

The German Government has decided that it shall be represented by a regular Ambassador at Tokio. This action is due to the increased commerce between Germany and Japan.

GRENCE is making active preparation to meet Turkey on the tented field if needs be. The Government of that country has recently purchased 1,400 artillery horses in England.

The value of the petroleum and petroleum products exported from this country during the year ending June 30 was $32,621,000, against $40,362,000 worth exported during the previous year.

R. H. CALDWELL, a conductor on the Nashville &amp; Chattanooga Railroad, was stabbed by a man named Parsley at Gardner Station, Tenn., Tuesday night. The wounds, it is feared, will prove fatal.

By applying the statute of limitations the Illinois Court of Claims now in session at Springfield has allowed claims amounting in all to about $100,000 or about one-fifth of the whole amount applied for.

The report that the steamer Jeddah had foundered off Aden, Arabia, and that 1,000 souls were lost, turns out to be unfounded. The vessel was safely towed into port last night, with all on board safe and sound.

In consequence of the depressed state of the iron industry, and on account of the strike of the iron-workers, the manufacturers of the North of England and Scotland have decided to suspend work for some time.

TIMOTHY EADWORTH was nominated by the Democrats of the Eighth Michigan District yesterday. Congressman Horr, the present Representative, has been renominated by the Republicans, and is sure of reelection.

TONY BRIGGS, a Pittsburgh saloon-keeper, has been arrested for having caused the death of his wife by brutally beating her. The woman died last Sunday from the effects of a miscarriage brought on by the beating.

After a long word war and considerable confusion, the Tennessee Democratic Convention yesterday adopted resolutions in favor of suspending the credit of the State by making legislative provision for the payment of the State debt.

An advance of five cents per barrel was yesterday made by the steaming companies at Indianapolis, the strike there having been suspended by the success of the cooperers; that apprentices of Americans have appeared to the peasantry advising them to set ready for a rebellion; and, lastly, that St. Patrick and the Virgin have appeared at Knock Chapel, in Mayo County, and have reprimanded the tenantry for refusing to render the Conservative party its adhesion.

A TERRIBLE railroad accident is reported from England. A passenger train ran off the track of the Midland Railway, between Leeds and Lancaster, yesterday, causing the death of seven persons and serious injury to twenty others.

DR. EDWIN HOWELL, dentist of Stevens Point, is dead Tuesday last at Wausau, in the State, whether he had gone to complete his practice. The murderer is a Dr. Bennett, a dentist, a drunkard, a cause of general jealousy.

JAMES ROBINSON, was yesterday nominated for Congress by the Ninth Ohio District. His competitor was Col. Cooper, of Mount Vernon. The present Representative is the Hon. E. B. Fliley, a Democrat.

A NEW line of steamers, to be called the Unicorn Line, will ply between the United States and Europe with a lively competition with the North German Lloyd Line for freight and passengers. The first steamer of the new line will sail from New York the 17th inst.

THE steamboat Bonnie Lee, which left New Orleans last Saturday for the Red River with 22 tons of merchandise, was blown up Monday night. The cargo, which was valued at $10,000, is a total loss. Jeff Persey, the second officer, was killed, and a boy named McDonald is missing.

At a large meeting held in Clonmel, Ireland, yesterday, a letter was read from Archibald Crichton, announcing the House of Lords' rejection of the Irish Compensation Bill. Nearly all the Catholic Peers either voted against the measure or stood away.

MR. GEORGE A. KNIGHT, of Humboldt, has been nominated for Congress by the Vice-Presidential candidate for the Indianapolis Journal.

PROF. THOROLD ROGERS, M. P. for Southwark, presided over a meeting yesterday evening at the Royal Exchange, in the curvaceous heart of this country, with the purpose of assisting English farmers who are obliged to emigrate by the prevailing hard times in England. A committee was appointed to assist in the project.

MR. ROBERTS continues his march towards Cashel. He is being plentifully provisioned by Abdurrahman's agents. In the meantime Ayoub Khan is not idle round the beleaguered castle. He has posted his troops so as to cut off all communication between the garrison and the outer world, and has detached a large force for attack on Cashan-Chok.

JOHN MISTER, of Mills Grove, O., married his niece, who, after a brief period, became dissatisfied with her married life, owing to MISTER's bad treatment of her. She left for MISTER's home in Cincinnati, where he was to meet her. He tried to induce her to return with him, but she refused, whereupon he drew a revolver and shot her in the waist. The wound is not necessarily fatal. MISTER has been arrested.

THESE are the active candidates and any number of dead horses for the Republican nomination for Congress from the district now represented by Gen. Garland. The Convention will be held to-day, and the contest promises to be very spirited. The most prominent candidates are Ezra B. Taylor, Stephen A. Northway, W. P. Howard, and Peter Hitchcock. The first-named has the lead at present, and his chances for a nomination are good.

ALL efforts to secure the identification of the persons who shot Mr. Boyd and his son near Ross, Ireland, have so far been unavailing. The disputes of the shooters were perfect, and with all the facts in evidence, the only positive fact is that the rifles abandoned by the assassins are English rifles with the Government brand. Great alarm is manifested by the landed gentry living in the county where the outrage was committed.

MR. ANDREW BOUD, a French tinner, who has been a widower for two years, and who at various times since his bereavement shown indications of insanity, made a proposal of marriage to a Mrs. Renau, living in a tenement house in New York, yesterday morning, and on his proposal being rejected, he cut the woman's hair, severely severing the head from the body. The murderer then applied the razor to his own throat. Bigot attempted suicide six months ago.

DISGUSTED with the Democrats for their treachery to De La Maty, the Indiana Greenbackers are not the only ones who are disgusted with the Republicans. The Commercial correspondent found that number of Sheriff's deeds. He found, too, about an equal number of tax-deeds had been issued to Mr. English, showing that this estimable gentleman is quite willing to pay the taxes of his indigent neighbors. The generosity of this act appears to him to be even greater than the meanness of the man who is a sort of poor man's plusher, while this is very varied, as for instance it is.

THE meeting of the Austrian and German Empress at Ischl is interpreted to mean an Austro-German alliance.

DEMOCRATIC TRIBULATION IN INDIANA.

The better class of Democrats in Indiana—those who lay claim to personal decency and respectability—are rapidly becoming disgusted at the indecencies of the rank and file, the character of their candidates, and the methods of the campaign. In hatred of the negro sons of the southern counties rival the worst counties in Alabama and Mississippi, and practice the methods of building up a bill of foreclosed, fines, on a personal suit to recover the balance, upon half-a-dozen actions for forcible entry and detainer, and dreams sweetly of extracting not only the pound of flesh, but of holding a basin to catch the drops of blood which trickle from the gaping wound. He is always in hot pursuit of justice, and he seeks it everywhere, from the dingy back office of the Justice of the Peace to the carpeted "chambers" of the "High Court of Chancery." He lives in an atmosphere of prudery, capias, summonses, and writs of execution.

The correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial has been poking his nose into Mr. English's private affairs, as disclosed by the public records of Marion County, in a most disagreeable, not to say insulting, manner.

At a large meeting held in Clonmel, Ireland, yesterday, a letter was read from Archibald Crichton, announcing the House of Lords' rejection of the Irish Compensation Bill. Nearly all the Catholic Peers either voted against the measure or stood away.

MR. GEORGE A. KNIGHT, of Humboldt, has been nominated for Congress by the Vice-Presidential candidate for the Indianapolis Journal.

At a large meeting held in Clon stands out in striking contrast with the action of his superior, who soon after rebuked and drove him from the ranks for uttering a contemptuous word of a soldier. The soldier, however, before the civil authority reached him, had already been promoted to the rank of sergeant, and was an example of obedience to law which will pass into history as all sound claim to distinction.

"Graduate"—You can just bet that jargonism is, as you know, "a sphere in which the cultured mind may find full scope for its loftiest ambition." The "graduate" has been offered a salary of $5 per week, and is now the editor of the New York Sun, besides owning Keene Jim, that trotted in at Buffalo last week.

London Spectator:—This is a function in literature akin to that of a manager in a theater, a distributive rather than a creative one, which requires very considerable and very varied capacities." You're right. But after all the poems are distributed into the street there is a sense of duty performed, that more than pays a man for the trouble.

A man who while Patti sings ballads, pronouncing each word clearly, has a voice as distinct and round that the hearer feels as if he could pick up each one and put it in his pocket. This is probably true, but after a man has paid to hear Patti once or twice it is said to be very difficult for him to put his hand in his pocket and pick up a five-dollar note.

"Annette" wants to know "What celebrated female character in history would it be proper for me to select as the subject of a graduate essay?" With such an abundant store to draw from, Anna, we would know how to answer your question, but from the names of Queen Mary, Catherine de Medici, Mary Sevigny, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Lot's wife, George Eliot, Jill, Susan B. Anthony, Goldsmith Maid, Aspasia, Cleopatra, Joan of Arc, Brincliffe, Maud S. Bodine, and Mrs. Somerville, you ought to be able to choose.

A fascinating young creature from Boston, whose gold-rimmed spectacles are but a faint indication of her father's opulence, has been the object of my admiration for the past month or two, and among her acquaintances is a young man whom she met the other evening smoking a small and apparently inoffensive cigar. After the usual salutations had been exchanged the young lady casually remarked that while attending the Polytechnic Institute it came to her knowledge that an ordinary cigar contained aconite, ergot, strychnine, valerian, prussic, and propionic acids, crocetin, ammonium sulphuret, and other poisons, pyrethrum, and rubidium, and then with a smile on. A really fine Boston girl can discourage a smoker if she starts in to.

A Cambridge mother sent her small boy into the country, and after a week of anxiety has received this letter: "I got 'em all right and forgot to write before; it is a very nice place to have fun. A fellow and I went out in a boat, and the boat tipped over, and a man got out, and the boat was so full of water I didn't know what to do. The other boy got out, and we got into a boat, and the boat tipped over again, and we got into another boat, and a man kicked me, and I have got to have some money to pay a doctor for my head. We are going to set an old barn on fire to-night, and I should smile if we don't have fully fun. I lost my watch and I am very sorry. I shall bring home some mud-turkies and I shall bring some wood-chucks if I can get 'em in my trunk."

John W. Forney's reasons for voting for Hancock are: "I knew him when he was a boy, and just before he died I was with him in his father's office. B. Hancock. I knew him when he was a good soldier in Washington. I knew his father and his son, Joseph Forney. He was born in my State, and I honestly believe he saved it from a Rebel invasion—precisely as most of the newspapers have said. He was a man at all times, and he sold himself a thousand times."

The mystery is cleared up. It Forney knew "John B. Sterriger and Joseph Forney" or course he was compelled to bolt. There was a compulsion brought to bear on him. Sterriger and Forney are unknown to fame; but it's clear anybody who knew them must bolt.

M. K. McGrath, the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State of Missouri for a third term, is said to be a defaulter. It is alleged that he failed to turn over the sum of $2,631.49 at the expiration of his term as Clerk of the Criminal Court of St. Louis, and has never made the payment. A suit was filed in the Circuit Court. These facts come out of the Missouri, but McGrath has been three times nominated and twice elected since they were published. Missouri Democrats don't think any worse of him for a small theft of that kind. They all do.

IMPORTANT campaign items from Indiana: A negro joined the Democratic Hancock Veterans, and was with them at the battle of the drum corps; then a large majority of the Association swore "no—nigger should be allowed in our Democratic Club," and the Club broke up in.

The Hon. Joseph Barker, Democratic Representative from Petersburg, has declined his invitation to speak at a meeting to support the Republican ticket throughout, and to the county in the interest of the Republican party.

Miss Gertrude Gould, of New York, a niece of B. F. Harris, has been studying at the Paris Conservatoire four years. Last year she was awarded a first accent, but refused to take it, claiming a first prize. This year she has gained the first prize, according to one report, but by another has been compelled to share it with a French pupil of inferior merit. No American or English-speaking person has ever won the grand prize.

SENATOR WALLACE vaguely promises that crippled Union soldiers now in office shall not be disturbed if Hancock comes in. He says nothing about Union soldiers in office not crippled, or crippled Union soldiers out of office who wish to get in. Nor does he explain how it is that he only disturbed the clerk of his Committee, a one-armed veteran, admitted to be thoroughly competent, and appointed his own son to the place.

The Prince of Wales wants money. He has enough for his legitimate expenses, but not enough for his forbidden and very expensive pleasures. There are many snobs in Parliament who would like to vote him all the money he can get. In this year that the peers are not in the majority, so the Prince will have to wait. His debts are heavy, and his mother's health most vigorous.

The forthcoming volume of St. Beuve's correspondence will contain a letter written in 1861 by Prince Napoleon, in which, after criticizing M. Roubier, who has just pronounced his son a traitor, the Prince says: "The entire correspondence of French diplomacy for that century, which I have studied, is an indictment against the misgovernment of priests at Rome."

He was a big Democrat, but a bigger Republican had him by the throat and shook him so that his teeth chattered and his knees knocked together. And in an interval of quiet he was heard to whisper hoarsely, "I do want a change."

The defense of Oakes Ames by his sons ignores the fact that he was a scoundrel. His testimony contradicts itself in a dozen places, and involves him in a mass of false swearing from which fatal delusion can't save him.

It's a real effort for the Boston Herald and Springfield Republican to tell what they call "independent" this year. They discover the old party for appearance sake, but at heart they are both in it and of it.

Mr. ENGLISH is now trying to foreclose a mortgage on the Democratic party of Indiana, and make it the biggest job of the king he ever had, though he had as many.

COL. JOHN A. JOYCE drops into poetry as naturally as a fly into soup; but he "only dines" when reporters ask him about McDowell's story.

The sadder men on the continent to-day are they who paid 25 cents to see two greedy old tramps in Kansas City, and took them for the Spirit of the German Press.

The Illinois States-Zeitung has the following in reference to liberty in the South: "The strong North, when on trial, is like a giant, who is easily overcome and easily beaten by the aristocracy of the land of feudal rights. 'Stay and remain with us,' exclaimed one great admirer of Port's talent: 'only in Hungary you can enjoy life.' 'Well,' replied Mr. Portl, 'Vienna is a great city, a capital of a great country and nation; it is the centre of the art in which I move my world, my—my—my—' replied the Hungarian statesman, 'only in Hungary there is real liberty at home; in Vienna there is none. If, for instance, you dispense me from my feet, I will be a slave for life.'

"That was the act of a statesman and a diplomat." What was the boy? James A. Garfield.—J. Fenimore Cooper.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—The Governor and Council will to-morrow make public their report on a recent investigation into the State Prison management. They will exonerate the Warden and Deputies from charges of neglect of duty, lack of business capacity, extravagance in purchasing supplies, and the shooting of convicts—evidence on the latter charge showing that the officers acted in self-defense, especially in one case where they were exposed to an attack from an ex-convict, who was rushing at them with an open knife and an iron bar, and the discipline of the whole prison was at stake.

THE WARDEN.—The Hon. Edward Holden, who received 154 votes as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States on its revolutionary program is to-day the candidate of that party and stands behind Hancock to-day. Should Hancock be elected, Warden would be the young man who met the other evening smoking a small and apparently inoffensive cigar. After the usual salutations had been exchanged the young lady casually remarked that while attending the Polytechnic Institute it came to her knowledge that an ordinary cigar contained aconite, ergot, strychnine, valerian, prussic, and propionic acids, crocetin, ammonium sulphuret, and other poisons, pyrethrum, and rubidium, and then with a smile on. John W. Forney's reasons for voting for Hancock are: "I knew him when he was a boy, and just before he died I was with him in his father's office. B. Hancock. I knew him when he was a good soldier in Washington. I knew his father and his son, Joseph Forney. He was born in my State, and I honestly believe he saved it from a Rebel invasion—precisely as most of the newspapers have said. He was a man at all times, and he sold himself a thousand times."

A fascinating young creature from Boston, whose gold-rimmed spectacles are but a faint indication of her father's opulence, has been the object of my admiration for the past month or two, and among her acquaintances is a young man whom she met the other evening smoking a small and apparently inoffensive cigar. After the usual salutations had been exchanged the young lady casually remarked that while attending the Polytechnic Institute it came to her knowledge that an ordinary cigar contained aconite, ergot, strychnine, valerian, prussic, and propionic acids, crocetin, ammonium sulphuret, and other poisons, pyrethrum, and rubidium, and then with a smile on. A really fine Boston girl can discourage a smoker if she starts in to.

A Cambridge mother sent her small boy into the country, and after a week of anxiety has received this letter: "I got 'em all right and forgot to write before; it is a very nice place to have fun. A fellow and I went out in a boat, and the boat tipped over, and a man got out, and the boat was so full of water I didn't know what to do. The other boy got out, and we got into another boat, and the boat tipped over again, and we got into another boat, and a man kicked me, and I have got to have some money to pay a doctor for my head. We are going to set an old barn on fire to-night, and I should smile if we don't have fully fun. I lost my watch and I am very sorry. I shall bring home some mud-turkies and I shall bring some wood-chucks if I can get 'em in my trunk."
